

QUESTION REVIEWED BY BRYAN

Makes Public Today a Lengthy Statement On The Panama Tolls

BALTIMORE PLATFORM

Effect of Repeal on Treaty and Various Features of the Subject are Discussed by President's Secretary of State

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Washington, April 13.—Secretary Bryan in a statement made public today lengthily reviews the Panama tolls question, and in the course of the statement declares that the repeal of the tolls exemption in the Panama Canal Act "cannot be construed to be a construction of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty" but is "simply a refusal on the part of the United States to raise that question in that way."

Mr. Bryan discusses various features of the subject—the limiting of debate in the House of Representatives, the Baltimore platform, and the effect of repeal on the treaty.

Claiming that the opponents of the repeal had seized upon the charge that the President was "surrendering to England," Mr. Bryan declared that the opposition to the repeal had attempted to appeal "to prejudice rather than to reason."

"What has Great Britain done," he asked, "to justify the accusation that she is trying to dictate to this country? She has simply called attention to the terms of the treaty and asked for arbitration of the question of construction, in case this government differs from the British government in the construction to be placed upon the language. The very men who are so insistent upon constraining the treaty to permit free tolls, delayed for months the ratification of the treaty with Great Britain because of their opposition to any arbitration of the subject? In other words they construed the treaty to permit discrimination, and then objected to allowing any international court to express an opinion on the subject. If, as a matter of fact, the treaty grants the rights which Great Britain claims, is it 'surrendering to Great Britain' for our nation to repeal a law that raised the question? The repeal of the law cannot be construed to be a construction of the treaty. It is simply a refusal on the part of the United States to raise that question in that way. In the controversy over the Welland Canal, Canada withdrew a discrimination which she had made in favor of Canadian ships, in order that no cause for friction with the United States authorities in regard to the matter should exist."

"Why can not the United States withdraw a discrimination for the same reason? When the treaty involved was before the Senate for ratification an attempt was made to so amend it as to permit a discrimination in favor of coastwise vessels but it was voted down by a decided majority. With this record to support them, is it strange that foreign nations question our right to make a discrimination?"

Dowager Empress of Japan Dies, Aged 64

Dowager Empress Haruko of Japan, aged sixty-four, is dead. She was the widow of Emperor Mutsuhito. She had done much for the women of Japan, and the freedom now theirs is largely due to her. She struggled long to free them from the old customs and laws by which they had been slaves. This came about through studying the civilization of Europe and America, which she took up with the emperor. She was responsible for many foreign customs introduced into the life of the court.

HUFFMAN AND DIEGLE WILL ASK PAROLE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Columbus, April 13.—When the members of the Ohio board of administration meet at the penitentiary on Friday morning to act on applications for parole, it is probable that the application of former State Senator Isaac Huffman will be acted upon. The application was filed several months ago but action was postponed.

It is also said that the application for the parole of Rodney J. Diegle, former sergeant at arms of the Senator will come up at the meeting this week. The Diegle application has been postponed from time to time, and so far has neither been rejected nor granted, but has merely been awaiting action by the board.

Members of the board refuse to discuss either application.

If the paroles are not granted at this time they will not come up again until June meeting, and in the meantime the term of Diegle will expire and he will be released by expiration of his sentence.

The term of Diegle will expire May 8 but that of Mr. Huffman not for several months.

Whether George K. Cetone of Dayton, paroled from the penitentiary where he is serving a term for accepting a bribe while serving as a state senator, probably will also be decided by the state board of administration sitting at a parole board Friday or Saturday of this week, it was announced today.

The board went to Mansfield today to consider applications for parole of reformatory inmates.

JOHN LIND BACK FROM OLD MEXICO

Left Capital At Own Request Because of Need Of Rest

TO HOLD CONFERENCES

With President Wilson and Secretary Bryan After Which He Will Be Ready to Go Back If Necessary

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Washington, April 13.—John Lind, President Wilson's personal representative in Mexico returned to Washington today after an absence of months. While he came for a rest after his long stay in a tropical climate, he brought much information for conferences with the president and Secretary Bryan. The first of these took place at a luncheon with Mr. Bryan.

Mr. Lind greeted inquirers by asking if it were true that Rear Admiral Mayo had been ordered to revoke his demand for the firing of a salute to American commanders at Tampico and when he was informed that President Wilson had insisted that the salute be fired, he smiled approvingly. Mr. Lind said his plans were not definite and depended largely on his talks with President Wilson and Secretary Bryan. He left Mexico at his own request, he said, because he needed rest and change.

He intimated that he was ready to go back should a contingency arise requiring his return.

It is understood that Mr. Lind brings the president a good deal of information that has not been communicated through official channels but that information was said to be descriptive of general conditions and in no way affecting the diplomatic status affairs.

The rigorous censorship that has been established in Mexico and the inability of the people in Southern Mexico to learn definitely about constitutionalist victories in the north are phases of the situation which Mr. Lind probably will tell officials here. When Mr. Lind left Vera Cruz, Torreón had fallen but the news was known to only a few people and those who essayed to spread it were promptly arrested.

President Wilson told callers today that a salute would be fired to the American flag by Mexican federals at Tampico as an apology for the recent arrest of American marines. The President spoke with such confidence that his hearers took it to imply that the point would be insisted upon. The president has already approved Rear Admiral Mayo's demand for the salute as an apology.

Secretary Daniels also had notified Admiral Mayo that his action is approved.

PRESIDENT TO SPEAK AT ANNUAL MEETING ASSOCIATED PRESS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Washington, April 13.—Announcement was made at the White House today that President Wilson had accepted an invitation to speak April 21 at a luncheon at the annual meeting of the Associated Press in New York City. Secretary Tamm said the President had not yet decided what subject he would discuss, but that he would make an important speech.

It is the first invitation the President has accepted for a speech outside of Washington since he went to Mobile last October to attend the Southern Commercial congress.

WRECKAGE SEEN, ORDER STEAMER TO INVESTIGATE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) St. Johns, N. F., April 13.—The steamer Kyle which was ordered by wireless yesterday to investigate wreckage supposed to have come from the missing Southern Cross, sailing today, was forced to put in here last night for coal. She sailed again at daylight today. The wreckage which was sighted Saturday, 100 miles southeast of this port by the steamer Bloodhound, include gear from a ship's deck, a seaman's sea chest, a man's cap and part of the bow of a small boat. It was drifting against a large ice floe.

The Bloodhound brought here the body of a sea hunter, which was found lying beside the body of his dog on the ice.

MINERS VOTE TO CALL OFF THE STRIKE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Hancock, Mich., April 13.—The copper mine workers who have been on strike since July 23 last voted yesterday to call off the strike, according to an announcement made today by Charles E. Hietala, district secretary of the Western Federation of Miners. The figures will not be given out until after a meeting of the district board this afternoon.

It is unofficially reported that the majority in favor of calling off the strike was 1,012. The unofficial vote from four of the five locals in the district resulted as follows: Ahmeek, 600 for, returning to work, 17 against; Calumet, 291 for, 32 against; Hancock, 49 for, 18 against; South Range, 485 for, 90 against.

Recognition of the union demanded of the mining companies is waived by the strikers in voting to return to work. They claim that practically all their other demands have been complied with since the strike began. These included better working conditions, an 8-hour day and a minimum daily wage of $2.

From the outset the operators have declared that they would never recognize the Western Federation of Miners although they have maintained that they did not question the right of their employees to organize. Several thousand men have been imported to fill the strikers' places and the companies will be had pressed to find work for the returning strikers.

SAYS PUBLIC MISLED BY STATEMENTS

Senator Cummins Charges Campaign is Being Conducted by Railroads to Arouse Public Sympathy.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Washington, April 13.—Senator Cummins charged today that a persistent and widespread campaign was being conducted to arouse public sympathy for the request for a five per cent increase in freight rates on eastern railroads, now pending before the interstate commerce commission. The senator expressed confidence that the commission would decide the question on its merits, but said the public was being misled by incorrect and exaggerated statements.

Senator Cummins declared that the Panama canal tolls situation, which has advanced in rate to one year tolls paid by all the ships that use the canal in twelve months, would be charged in half a century.

"In connection with the proposed commission," he continued, "there is a most comprehensive and persistent campaign being waged to make the people of the country believe that the of (Continued on Page 10, Col. 5.)

COXEY'S "ARMY" DECIDES ROUTE TO WASHINGTON

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) New York, April 13. Hobbes in the Brotherhood Welfare Association, who "trained" a week ago in General Coxey's army, which is to march to Washington, D. C., decided today on the route. The New York contingent will start on May 1. The different branches of the "army" are to be organized in companies of one hundred each, and to have a captain. The New York army will cross the Hudson river by ferry to Jersey City on May 1 and march to Philadelphia where there will be a rest. The next stop will be Baltimore, where they will proceed directly to Washington in time to fall in line with the other branches of the "army" on Pennsylvania avenue on May 21, when a committee to be named by them will go to the White House with demands for legislation to make money and work more plentiful.

Accompanied to the Electric Chair by Their Spiritual Advisers After Having Spent Several Hours in Prayer

MURDER OF GAMBLER ROSENTHAL IS AVENGED

"Whitey Lewis" Seidenshner Goes to His Doom Protesting His Innocence—"Dago Frank" Cirofici First to be Strapped in the Death Chair and Rabbi Goldstein States It Is His Belief Italian Was Not at Scene of Crime—Bodies Claimed by Relatives.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Sing Sing Prison Ossining, N. Y., April 13.—The four gunmen convicted for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, died in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison at the break of dawn this Easter Monday morning. None confessed his guilt and none mentioned the name of Chas. Becker, the former police lieutenant found guilty of instigating the murder, but saved by court of appeals reversal. Of the four who died, Frank Seidenshner "Whitey Lewis" made the only statement. Ever he did not flatly assert his innocence. "Gentlemen," he mumbled, as they strapped him in the chair, "I did not shoot at Herman Rosenthal. The men who say I did were perjurers. For the sake of justice gentlemen, I say I didn't." The witness Stanshler.

Whitey did not finish the sentence. The strange harness had been adjusted and the current shot his body forward, in the chair. He meant to say that Stanshler, a waiter and a witness at the murder trial had lied; but death intervened.

Seidenshner was the second man to die. "Dago Frank" (Frank Cirofici) came first. "Gyp the Blood" (Harry Horowitz) was third and Lefty Louie (Louis Rosenberg) was last. In forty minutes flat all four were despatched. This time would have been shortened had it not been for the overcrowding of newspaper reporters. Their numbers necessitated a shifting of witnesses for each execution. There was no untoward incident throughout the procedure. All walked quietly to the chair and only their quaking knees and the slightly green pallor of their faces attested that the realization of death was upon them.

William Cashin, Roman Catholic chaplain of the prison, accompanied "Dago Frank" to the chair. With "Whitey Lewis" and "Gyp the Blood" was Rabbi Joseph Goldstein of New York. Rabbi Mayer Kopstein, long the spiritual adviser of the Rosenberg family, stood by "Lefty Louie." Priest and rabbi alike averted their drawn faces as they entered the chamber of death, struggling to control themselves as they intoned a prayer for the dying.

"Gentlemen," said Rabbi Goldstein, as he left the death chamber, "if you ask me whether the Jewish boys were guilty, I will say, I do not know. They did not confess to me. As for the Italian, I do not believe he was at the scene of the crime. I do not think any of them should have been convicted on the testimony offered." An anemic moon still hung in the sky when those who were to witness the executions gathered in front of the prison. The air was chill, and a raw wind swept across the Hudson. Faint lights glimmered at corridor ends of the buildings, but no sound came from within. The hideous noises which convicts have been said to emit when one or more of their number is to die, were spared those who waited.

Democratic National Delegates Favor Repeal Of the Canal Tolls

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Washington, April 13.—First returns from a poll Senator Gore is making of delegates to the Democratic national convention at Baltimore on the canal tolls issue were announced today by the Democratic national committee. They showed 328 in favor of repealing the clause of the canal act exempting American coastwise shipping from tolls, 69 against repeal and 11 noncommittal.

Debate on the administration's repeal policy has centered largely upon the declaration of the Baltimore platform in favor of free tolls and two weeks ago Senator Gore addressed personal letters to each of the 1,000 odd delegates to the convention asking for an expression of opinion on the issue.

"Up to date the returns are all astounding to the champions and opponents of the repeal," said the announcement today. "Only two states have given a majority against the repeal. A number of them, so far as the votes have as yet been received, have declared unanimously in favor of the repeal—namely Texas and Pennsylvania. In Illinois the vote to date is 24 to 2 in favor of repeal."

Reasons Advanced By Gas Company For Rejection Of the Rate Ordinance

Declaring that natural gas is worth more in the Ohio market than the rate proposed by the city in its rate ordinance submitted to the city council, The Newark Natural Gas & Fuel company in a letter sent to Chairman Knauer of the Law committee Saturday, rejected the ordinance and stated its reasons for its refusal to accept it.

The company cites the recent contract made by the Lancaster municipal plant with the Logan company for gas at the Sugar Grove pumping station. This contract provides for the payment of 18 cents to the Logan company and the city of Lancaster must transport the gas to the city's distribution system. It also cites the franchise granted to the Buckeye Gas company by the Sugar Grove city council but the rate is not given in the company's letter.

The company states that it can not furnish free gas to the local municipal light plant after the expiration of the present contract as it would, it is claimed, undoubtedly interfere with the supply for domestic consumption. It is also held to be too great a concession on the part of the company.

The company declares that the escrow fund now held by the receiver appointed by the court in the litigation now pending rightfully belongs to the company and that it must insist on the fund being turned over to the Newark Natural Gas & Fuel company. The company agrees however to use every dollar of the fund in the betterment of the service in Newark.

The letter was signed by the company's agent, L. F. Carl and was dated April 13.

It was in reply to the rate ordinance submitted by the law committee of the council and which caused a demonstration on the part of the Trades and Labor Council, composed of delegates from all Newark labor unions, which visited the council chamber last Monday night.

The ordinance among other things provided:

That for the remaining period of the company's franchise (9 yrs.) that it be permitted to charge 28 cents per thousand for gas with a discount of 3 cents per thousand when bills are paid before the 10th of the month. That the quality of the gas shall be no less than 560 British thermal units to the thousand cubic feet that the pressure shall not fall below four ounces nor be more than 12 ounces per square inch that when the supply and pressure falls below these standards, an extra 10 per cent discount shall be allowed the consumers for each 72 hours that the pressure and quality of the gas is below these standards.

Clip out your coupons neatly, and fill them out clearly and plainly, remembering that in the event of a tie for any prize between two or more contestants, neatness and clear writing will win the judges' favor. The picture is to be a part of the coupon. Do not detach the coupon from the picture.

Send no answers whatever to the Advocate until the contest is ended by the publication of Picture No. 70. Any answers received before that time will be destroyed and will not be counted. Read the rules carefully.

Rules of the Booklovers' Contest.

Any person may compete in this contest who lives either in Licking, Delaware, Knox, Coshocton, Muskingum, Perry, Fairfield or Franklin counties, Ohio, except employees of the Advocate or members of their families.

Answers to the picture must be written upon the coupon blank which will be printed every day with each picture during the seven-day publication days the contest will last. Both picture and blank must be clipped from the paper, and the blank properly filled in with the name of book and the author's name together with the name and address of the contestant written clearly and plainly in the space provided. Not more than one person's name may be written on any coupon.

Each picture will represent the title of only one book, but there may be some pictures that suggest the title of several books. For the benefit of contestants, and to allow for this variety of solution, any contestant may give as many as five answers to any picture, at will, but not more than one solution may be written on any coupon. If the contestant gives two answers as likely to include the correct one, two coupons must be used; if three answers, three coupons, and so on.

In each instance, whether the contestant gives one answer or five answers to any picture, both the picture and coupon must be used for each of the answers; and not more than five answers to any picture will be permitted.

If any one of the five answers that may be given to any picture is correct, the contestant will be credited for the correct solution and will not have the incorrect ones counted against his or her chances. Prizes will be awarded to every contestant by the Contest Judges who sends in the largest number of correct answers upon the smallest number of coupons. Thus, if a contestant gives the correct answers to 70 of the pictures and uses only 70 coupons, that contestant will rate higher in the prize awards than one who uses 140 coupons or any higher number up to 350 for supplying the 70 correct answers.

If two or more persons supplying the same number of correct answers, have used the same number of coupons for their answers, the highest rating will be given to the one whose answers are most neatly prepared, in the opinion of the judges.

No contestant will be allowed to submit more than one set of answers, which must include not less than 70 or more than 350 coupons, with accompanying pictures.

Positively no solution may be sent in to the Contest Editor until every one of the seventy pictures has been printed. Answers in complete sets, as just specified above, will then be received in this office, and should be addressed to "Contest Editor, Newark Advocate Booklovers' Contest, Newark, Ohio. 900 BILLION DUCKS IN 20 YEARS; LOCAL EXPERT'S FIGURES

Leo T. Davis, of Newark, is a hunter and fisherman whose prowess with the rod and gun is known beyond the confines of old Licking county and who thinks while on the banks of the streams or while tramping through the fields, save the "duck" editor of the Columbus Dispatch. In other words "Speed" has brains and he's good at "figures" as the following will show. Sportsmen say that the federal law prohibiting the shooting of wild ducks in the spring will save 5000 pairs of the birds in Ohio this season. "Well," says "Speed," "say each pair hatches five ducklings, a low estimate that's an increase of 25,000 pairs which will give us 62,500 ducks the next fall. So at the end of 20 years we will have 908,513,355,935 young ducks."

Davis looks for an early repeal of the spring shooting law if his figures do not lie.

Wild ducks fairly swarmed about Central Ohio last week despite the cold weather. Several flocks were seen in the Driving Park near Columbus, and they attracted any amount of attention. While they showed considerable fear of the boys and men who watched them, it was remarked that not being shot at, caused them to stay longer than usual.

Ducks by the hundred alighted in the pools of water on the Hartman farm, south of Columbus, and J. F. Minnick of near Nashport, on the Licking river in Muskingum county, reports that he never saw so many ducks at this season of the year. "I have a farm up there," he said, "and the ducks fairly covered the ponds on the farm. They were of all kinds and seemed tamer than usual. The reason I suppose, is because they had not been shot at as much as usual."

General Speaks has received reports from the Lewisport reservoir in Logan county and the Loraine reservoir in Shelby county, and Lake Erie reports stating that wild ducks are fairly swarming these waters.

CAREFULLY TREAT CHILDREN'S COLDS

Neglect of children's colds often lays the foundation of serious lung trouble in later life. On the other hand it is harmful to continually dose delicate little stomachs with internal medicines or to keep the children always indoors. The ideal way to avoid colds is to keep plenty of fresh air in the bedroom and at the first sign of trouble apply Vick's "Vapo-Rub" Croup and Pneumonia Salve over the throat and chest, covering with a warm flannel cloth. The body heat releases antiseptic vapors that are inhaled all night long, opening the air passages and healing the inflamed membrane. In addition Vick's is absorbed through the skin taking out the soreness and tightness. Vick's contains no harmful drugs whatever. At drugists—25c, 50c, and $1.00.

LITERARY PERSONALITIES.

It is long time since James Allen has appeared before the world as a writer of fiction. He has written a long story which The Century Magazine will print complete in the May number. It is said that this story by the author of the idyllic "Kentucky Cardinal" is an idyl of St. John the Divine of Morningside Heights; and the Art School of the National Academy and St. Luke's Hospital are both included in the setting.

George Moore, the author of "Ester Waters" and of many other books which have had a multitude of readers, is now living quietly in London, working on his reminiscences. He contributes to the May Century Magazine an article comparing Shakespeare with Balzac. This was originally written in the French language, as an address which he gave before a French audience, and he has translated and rewritten it for The Century.

Mrs. Ruth McEnery Stuart, author of Dady-Do-Panny's Wisdom Jingles, has just finished a long story for The Century Magazine which will appear in the May number. She is spending the winter in Louisiana where the scene of the story is laid.

TO LICENSE BOOKMAKING IN GERMANY

(Associated Press Telegram) Berlin, April 13.—The German authorities have again capitulated to what they term "the ineradicable gaming instinct of the average person." After continuing and vain attempts to put an end to promiscuous betting on horse races, which involves a sum yearly estimated at between $150,000,000 and $200,000,000 they have decided to license bookmaking in an effort to secure for the state a percentage of this sum. A measure to this end, already reported briefly by cable, has been adopted by the Federal Council and is now awaiting the action of the Reichstag. It is hoped to have it become effective at a time for the Baden-Baden races next August.

Hitherto the only form of betting sanctioned by law has been by means of the pari-mutuel machine. This, however, was available only to persons able to visit the racetracks. The result is that a vast army of bookmakers, estimated at 6,000, ply their business in dens of the law. In addition every barbershop and thousands of cafes and similar resorts harbor their handbook men.

Competent authorities estimate the number of business places where wagers can be laid on horse races at over 200,000. Prosecutions for bookmaking increased from 1,600 in 1906 to 3,000 in 1912. For the most part they resulted in trivial fines or short jail sentences, and the business went ahead just the same. The better, too, is outside the law, and has no remedy against dishonest handbook men or bookmakers who refuse to settle winning wagers.

The number of licensed bookmakers is not fixed in the new measure but it is understood that the government contemplates licensing for about fifty scattered throughout the empire, each of which will be entitled to establish branch offices to meet the demand. Notwithstanding rigorous provisions against illicit betting, punishing both bookmaker and bettor (the latter with fines up to $250), experts believe that illicit books will continue to flourish, not only because the wage-earners, clerks and small-salaried men who today furnish the bulk of the handbook custom cannot afford the minimum stake of $10 but because the heavy taxation of the licensed bookmakers will enable the handbook men to offer far better odds.

Since six per cent. of every bet entered will go to the government as an initial tax, and an additional tax will be listed with an additional tax of from six per cent. up to 20 per cent. on the long shot of twenty to one or better, the man who plays a heavily-backed, odds-on favorite, say at 7 to 5, may risk a possible fine rather than the certain loss of nearly half of his scanty winnings. To backers of hundred to one outsiders the prospective surrender of some $25 of a $100 win will be equally deterrent.

Limiting authorized gambling under this law to horse racing, the government in its introduction to the bill pronounced against betting on football and other sports popular with the "middle and lower classes," to save them from the gambling contagion. Officers and soldiers are also classed in the undesirable category, bookmakers being forbidden to accept bets from members of the military forces, and betting on races with gentlemen jockeys is also prohibited.

An important provision of the proposed law makes winning wagers collectible at law, provided they are each cash wagers. This, it is believed, will greatly reduce the number of dishonest bookmakers. The maximum penalty for unlicensed bookmaking is to be two years' imprisonment and $1,500 fine, as against six months and $125 at present. Bettors dealing with unlicensed bookmakers also make themselves liable to imprisonment and fine, and the loss of all sums wagered, which will be confiscated by the state. The police may forbid the publishing of odds and form sheets.

The government estimates that the new law will produce at least $6,000,000 yearly, of which $2,000,000 will go to the states where the races in question are held, to be devoted to the encouragement of horse breeding, and $4,000,000 to the federal treasury. Despite the reduction on the tax on pari-mutuel takings, which are approximately $5,000,000 yearly, since betting through the machines is to be permitted, with restrictions, on races outside Germany, under the existing law, the machines may be employed only for domestic races.

Shirts From Trees.

It is comforting at least to know that the old "Song of the Shirt" does not apply to all parts of the world. In the forests of Oronoko, situated on the slope of New Granada, nature has provided what serves as a ready made shirt for the natives. It is obtained from the marina tree, a species of tropical palm, which has a thin, fibrous red bark. When a native wants a shirt he simply cuts a piece of one of these trees about eighteen inches in diameter and takes off the bark, man aging so as not to cut it in any way, and thus obtains a hollow cylinder of flexible bark somewhat resembling a rough sock without any bottom. He then makes a small slit in each side for his arms to go through and puts it on. It is only during the rainy season, however, that natives conform to the requirements of civilization sufficiently to wear garments of any description.—New York Sun.

REASONS

It is short; that these facts shall be determined by a gas inspector, that an adequate supply of gas be furnished the light plant that failure to comply with the provision of the ordinance shall forfeit the company's franchise, that the litigation now pending between the company and the city shall be settled by the return to consumers of the escrow fund held by the receiver; and that the acceptance of the ordinance be accompanied by a guarantee from the Logan company that the Newark company shall have an adequate supply of gas to comply with the provisions of the ordinance.

Chairman Knauber of the law committee states that this was the only proposition offered the company.

The company's refusal means that the gas problem is still unsettled and that the next move is up to the circuit court of appeals when it considers at the present session here, the company's appeal from the decision of the common pleas court which was in favor of the city.

DEATH WAS DUE TO BASEBALL

(Associated Press Telegram) New York, April 13.—The first death due to baseball so far reported in New York and vicinity this season occurred yesterday. The victim John Nelson, Jr., 18 years old, was injured in a game on Saturday. He was playing first base when a ball thrown to that base struck him in the temple, stunning him. Yesterday he complained of severe pains in the head. Death was caused by the bursting of a blood vessel in the boy's head.

"Do you ever get stage fright?" asked the friends of the actor. "Only when I meet my creditors," replied the actor, candidly.

The Secret of Health is Elimination of Waste

Every business man knows how difficult it is to keep the pigeon holes and drawers of his desk free from the accumulation of useless papers. Every housewife knows how difficult it is to keep her home free from the accumulation of all manner of useless things. So it is with the body. It is difficult to keep it free from the accumulation of waste matter. Unless the waste is promptly eliminated the machinery of the body soon becomes clogged. This is the beginning of most human ills.

WALLACE CIRCUS

TO VISIT HERE

ON APRIL 30th.

The advance guard, "the brigade" of the Wallace-Hagenback shows, was in the city the latter part of last week billing the outposts of the country for the big show which will exhibit in Newark on Thursday, April 30. "The brigade" consists of four men, who post bills in the vicinity of cities where a rival attraction is booked. This is done for the purpose of endeavoring to stem the tide towards the other cities. As Zanesville and Columbus are on the route of the Ringling shows particular attention was paid to billing in those vicinities, that is in the adjacent towns and villages. Bill car No. 1 is due in Newark this week and it will be followed by Nos. 2 and 3. The location for the big circus will be announced later.

TELLS ON THE KIDNEYS.

Newark People Have Found This To Be True.

The strain of overwork tells on weakened kidneys. The hurry and worry of business men, the heavy lifting and stooping of workmen, the women's household cares, tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they can no longer filter the poison from the blood and the whole body suffers from the waste matter that accumulates. Weakened kidneys need quick assistance. Doan's Kidney Pills are prepared especially for weakened kidneys; tired, worn-out backs—have proven their merit in thousands of such cases. Convincing proof of their worth in a Newark citizen's statement.

Samuel Brown, carpenter, 213 N. Thirteenth St., Newark, Ohio, says: "My kidneys were out of order and I had pains in my back. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I went to A. F. Crayton & Co.'s Drug Store and got some. They stopped the pains and regulated the kidney action."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Brown had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. 63

EASTERTIDE

A GLADSOME FEAST HERE

In a magnificent glow of sunlight blazing defiance at weather predictions to the contrary, the Easter parade with its myriads of brilliant colors and fancy and grotesque shapes, enjoyed the whole day for it, Sunday.

Gloomy prognostications from the weather bureau had caused expectant crowds to frown with fear that the Easter weather might not be suitable to display a new spring garb. The bright morning sunshine seemed to restore lost hopes, and in the early hours thousands began thronging the streets.

Morning services in all churches were crowded. Everywhere flowers, bright faces and songs of Easter tide proclaimed the risen Lord. Special music was a feature in all churches. Then, there were family dinners, crowds in the hotels and restaurants, the little rest, and the parade.

Downtown streets were vari-colored with pedestrians in the brilliant hues of the early spring fashions. Throughfares a distance out were crowded with automobiles which kicked up clouds of dust as they burned up the streets. No effort of the part of police to curb speeders was in evidence. Streets cars were crowded afternoon and evening.

Picture shows, which usually count on their abundance of business holidays, were practically deserted during the afternoon. Hundred who otherwise would have sought entertainment in the movies, would not give up a sunlight stroll or ride. As a consequence the moving picture houses had to wait until night for their business, and then the rush came.

The greater part of the evening witnessed big audiences in the picture houses, and the evening services in the churches were attended by record crowds.

Interurban lines did considerable business during the day, but fully as many as many out-of-town people came to Newark to spend Easter as there were Newark people attracted to other towns.

The temperature Sunday was sufficiently warm to make overwrap unnecessary, and the fact that it was a day of sunshine, the first in several days, was a welcome surprise to those who have been longing for the advent of real spring.

Monday's temperature, while pretty low in the early morning, was modified to a comfortable warmth early in the day by the bright sunshine.

EASTER SERVICES AT M. E. CHURCH

Yesterday was a red-letter day in the experience of the First M. E. church. There were 702 present at the Sunday school and an Easter Mission program of great merit was given under the skillful direction of Mrs. I. M. Phillips, an offering of $154.00 was made to the cause of Missions. At 10:30 the Auditorium was packed, and when the pastor, who recently returned from his trip West, arose to announce the trip hymn, he was greeted with much applause. After a brief address on the significance of the day, he baptized 28 persons and received a very large class into membership in the church. At the evening service an immense audience assembled to hear the musical program rendered by a chorus of 35 voices directed by Prof. Keppel. This musical feast was never surpassed in that church, and was received with manifest interest throughout. At its conclusion the audience gave the chorus and its capable leader the chautauqua salute and thus closed one of the greatest days in the mission of that great church.

CHURCH CLEARS DEBT, RAISING $5,226 SUNDAY

The East Main street United Brethren church, located between Arch and Morris streets, enjoyed a real revival Easter Sunday. This church needed $4000 to clear an indebtedness that was hanging over it. An appeal was made to the members and right nobly did they respond, with the result that a sum far in excess was pledged, or $5,226.

The Sunday school classes' pledges were also included in this amount, an attendance of 489 being present Sunday.

G. M. Matthews, D. D., Ph. D., of Dayton, bishop of the central district of the U. B. church was present and preached three sermons, one in the morning to a capacity audience, the second in the afternoon to men, and finally one to an open meeting in the evening. He was assisted by

This church began with a membership of 197, and now has 414 members. Rev. R. A. Hill, of Chillicothe, district superintendent.

CHURCH FILLED BY WORSHIPERS ON EASTER DAY

The Easter services at St. Francis de Sales church were observed as usual. The high altar was beautifully decorated in suitable colors for the occasion. Hundreds of lilies were set in niches and vines encircled the various small turrets of the altar, while electric lights shot out their rays from the floral surroundings illuminating the settings and making a most attractive picture. The first Mass was attended by over twelve hundred people and fully a third of those present received holy communion. At the second Mass one thousand or more filled the large auditorium and the choir sang La Hache's grand Mass, under the direction of Mr. Gruber. The celebrant was Fr. O'Boylan who preached on the Resurrection of Christ. Everything was in keeping with the great Easter solemnity and the people were happy. The sermon treated of the history of Easter and the mystery of the Resurrection of Christ as the fundamental doctrine of Christianity. The speaker reviewed the apparent failures of Christ and the attacks of antichristian forces and proved that what was in the eyes of the world a failure was in reality the greatest of all conquests. The existence of the church of Christ after so many centuries of battle was the greatest proof of the Divinity both of Christ and His church. The church was an ever present witness through all the ages that her divine Founder was the Messiah and the Man-God foretold from the beginning, and the Resurrection was preeminently the proof of all this.

The magnificent hymn All Hailah was never sung before in this church as it was on Sunday. Mr. Gruber and his splendid male choir of nearly thirty voices showed their accurate training and their earnest desire to render the difficult and sublime compositions of the best masters in a worthy manner. The services closed with the magnificent German Te Deum, most of the people present taking up the chorus.

SERVICES AT FIFTH STREET BAPTIST CHURCH

At the Fifth street church yesterday morning the pastor Dr. Charles H. Stull spoke on the subject, "Is Anything After Death?" to a large audience which filled the edifice. This sermon is said to be the strongest and best pulpit utterance ever heard from the pastor since coming to Newark, and a great many favorable expressions were heard. The speaker held to the great historical fact, that in all ages and generations and among all tribes and races, the belief in a future life, in some form has been held. He traced this record down from the prehistoric times, dating back to the Stone Age and showed that mankind looked forward after death to the life beyond death. He showed that the belief in immortality is a belief that has vitality in it, that it other benefits and hopes grow old and loose their vitality, this remains the same with old and young, in this modern day as in the most ancient times. He presented to the congregation nine great facts, about as follows: The belief in another life is universal as evidenced by the worship even of pagan peoples; that this belief survives from generation to generation over a period of probably not less than two hundred thousand years; that this belief in life beyond years; and is strengthened with the development of life and civilization as seen in the mental and moral leaders of all nations; that man in his rational or sane state of mind yearns for immortality; that man is a creature of love, this being his supreme function, and love shrinks at the thought of annihilation; that the human mind is too large for the brief period of 80 years into which it is restricted in time; that no human being can finish perfectly and satisfy all its task and destiny in four score years; that this world with its sorrows, accidents, cruel injustice, untimely deaths, must have an other life for progress and adjustment; that if the belief in immortality is a false one, it is a false; which is uplifting and rational; deception which infinitely deceives; and finally that Revelation gives a clear and positive affirmation of the future life, in the words of Jesus in His saying, "I am the resurrection and the life, whosoever believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live, and whosoever liveth and believeth in me, shall never die." He presented to the congregation the problem, that after death there is

THE QUAKER

Health Teacher Will be Here Soon to Prove His Words Regarding Real Health

It seems almost too good to be true, but it's a fact, nevertheless, that Gaskin, the famous Quaker Health Teacher, will soon pay Newark a visit. We have all heard much of him, people from all sections of the country are talking about him and the remarkable work that he is doing with the great Quaker Health Oil of Balm, the remedies he is introducing. The papers of all the larger towns of the State of Virginia are devoting columns to his work.

At Richmond, during all of last winter, he created intense interest by showing the road to Health to hundreds of former sufferers. In Roanoke early in the past Spring, and in Danville and Lynchburg and Bristol for the past 9 months, where he caused a furor of excitement, which is still kept at a high pitch by the repeated reports made by grateful people who have used the Quaker Remedies. The great work is indeed almost miraculous.

The well known local druggists, The City Drug Store, Third and Main streets, Newark, O., with the usual enterprise attributed to that store, have succeeded in their efforts to have Gaskin as their guest, and it can now be announced that this famous man will arrive here in a few days, and can be seen for a limited time at that store.

life eternal beyond earth. The institutional life of men rests on this assumption and belief.

NORTH NEWARK EASTER SERVICES

At the North Newark Christian Union, Easter Day, the Sunday School had charge of the entire forenoon service. Each class prepared their own entertainment, and kept the others ignorant of what was coming until it came time for that class to perform. Altogether it was a novel, a splendid and enjoyable entertainment, the house being well filled with eager participants and well-pleased auditors. One special feature was the presentation of living, growing flowers, by the Queen Easter class, Ralph Cass, teacher, to the pastor and the shut-ins of the church. These flowers will be kept many days and cherished as a token of love from this class of young ladies. The songs and declamations of classes were all of high order, and greatly appreciated, especially the song by the Adult Ladies' Class, Mrs. Neibarger, each. The Dorcas Society presented the Y. P. C. U. with $5.00 to pay on their piano, which was greatly appreciated by the young people. Altogether, the children's offering, regular Sunday School class offering, and church service offerings, amounted to over $100.00. At night the pastor gave sixth talk on the Prodigal Son, to a well-filled house, and one man was received into fellowship with the church.

The Blind Won't See

Having recklessly charged the State administration with preparing to spend $25,000,000 in 1914, former Senator Foraker finds himself confronted with the correcting statement of Auditor of State A. V. Donahey, who certainly knows more about Ohio's finances than the Senatorial candidate. Auditor Donahey's calculations, taken from the records, show that the expenses will be less in 1914 than they were in 1913 and fully $3,000,000 less than the $17,000,000 which Foraker grudgingly admits as a minimum. In 1887 a Democratic State Auditor, following the archaic accounting system, figured a deficit of $1,200,000 for Foraker's administration. It turned into a balance of $119,000. This was exhibited in Auditor Donahey's statement to prove the unreliability of estimated expenditures. Still the Senatorial candidate persisted in his error and called the explanation "political." That is old style politics of which he is one of the few surviving exemplars. Auditor Donahey's records, which are accurate, indicate that at the end of the fiscal year there will be unexpended balances in the State Treasury of upward of $8,000,000. Every voucher presented will be paid. From 1886 to 1889, when the Senatorial candidate was Governor the State hobbled along by anticipating uncollected taxes and issuing certificates of indebtedness. That wasn't his fault, though, because the State's income did not then embrace the millions which are now being collected as excise taxes from the corporations. The rates were levied directly on the general property of the taxpayers. This is now relieved of all save the charges for the common schools, universities and good roads. As an attorney the Senatorial candidate opposed the enactment of some of these laws creating the new sources of revenue. The State is now living inside of its income and there is no likelihood of a deficit. As a former Governor he should know that the State does not collect $25,000,000 or even $17,000,000 a year and this being true it could not appropriate either amount. Blind charges in the face of established records open for all the world to see do not befit one claiming to be a statesman.

American Humor.

Frank Gould says that American humor is like nothing else under the sun—so droll, so grotesque and often so solemn in expression.
Mr. Gould gives this account of a half minute comedy enacted in one of the corridors of a Chicago hotel.
It was played by two millionaires. One of them, waiting for the elevator, was struggling into his fur lined coat. The other, an acquaintance, took hold of the coat and assisted him into it.
The first man turned, saw who it was, gravely put his hand into his pocket, took out a dime and handed it to his helper, who, with equal gravity, pocketed it. Then the first man went down in the elevator, and the other passed on to his room. Not a word had been spoken and neither man smiled, except inwardly.
Would a foreigner have understood the pantomime, even if he had known the standing of both men?—Buffalo Express.

THE OFFIS KID.

Wisdom from Washington

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, April 13.—[Special.]—Patronage in appointments to office has proved to be a great worry to President Wilson. At first he undertook to keep all of these troubles away from him and have them handled in the various departments to which they belonged, but in the end it was found that he had to do as every other president has done.

Wilson was forced to take up hundreds of individual cases because the senators and representatives and leading Democrats of different states could not agree and would not abide by the decision of any cabinet officer. So it is that the selection of judges, marshals, district attorneys, collectors of customs and internal revenue and postmasters even in small places have been carried to the president and different sides have argued their claims.

A Disagreeable Duty.

To a man like President Wilson, who desired to concern himself with large affairs, the contest for offices has been irksome. That senators should disagree and prominent men of the party disagree with senators and congressmen is not so surprising to him as the bitter contest which is made for many places. The president also has found frequently that men whose character and fitness should disqualify them for positions have been recommended to him, and he has appalled them. Yet everybody knows he does not desire to acknowledge a mistake in such matters, and he generally stands by the appointments he has made.

Pressure Still Heavy.

More than a year has elapsed since President Wilson was inaugurated, and yet the pressure for places is almost as great as it was at the beginning of his administration. Owing to the fact that the Democrats were out of office for sixteen years, there grew up in each one of those years a class of men who felt that they were entitled to recognition whenever the party was successful.
Beginning more than sixteen years ago, men have been nursing an ambition to secure federal jobs, and they have not forgotten a single thing that they ever did for a senator, representative or other politician or for the Democratic party. The pressure for office in Grover Cleveland's first administration and again in his second administration was almost equally as strong as it is now, and Cleveland did not like dealing in patronage any better than President Wilson.

Must Be Exact.

With all of the auditors, comptrollers and others who pass upon legislation appropriating money it is necessary to be exact. The other day a watchful member of the house called attention to the fact that it was necessary to insert after a provision for an appropriation the words "out of any moneys in the treasury not otherwise appropriated."
And these words are necessary, too, as one claimant found out. Three or four years ago a bill was passed for the settlement of a just claim, but it omitted these words just quoted, and the man has been trying ever since to get his money. It will require another act of congress before the claim will be paid, and it is doubtful whether he can get it through at this late day.

Tolls Question Brings Trouble.

It is generally asserted that the repeal of the canal tolls is not popular with the people at this time. Several members of congress who are supporting the repeal say they believe such is the case. It is having some effect on men who have got to go before the people this fall, as they may not be able to convince their constituents that they were right when they voted with the administration to repeal the canal tolls.

Not an Edifying Spectacle.

It is not a very edifying spectacle to see the house engaged in a close questioning of the salary and allowances of the president of the United States. The salary has been fixed at $75,000 a year, and the president is allowed $25,000 a year for traveling expenses. Then there are certain allowances for the White House which have been in effect for a long time. It sounds rather small to hear members propositions made each year for these expenses of the president and the cost of running the White House.

"Almanac Humor."

Chairman Adamson, who had charge of the Panama canal report bill, was engineering a bridge bill through the house the other day, and Congress man Bryan of Washington asked him if all railroads would be granted the same freedom of tolls as the railroad that built the bridge.
"That is almanac humor," retorted Adamson.

A Penalty of Genius.

It seems to be the frequent penalty of genius that it is denied the privilege of perpetuating its name and kind beyond a few generations at most. Thus it is said that there is not now living a single descendant in the male line of Chaucer, Shakespeare, Spenser, Milton, Cowley, Butler, Dryden, Pope, Cowper, Goldsmith, Byron or Moore; not one of Sir Philip Sidney or of Sir Walter Raleigh; not one of Drake, Cromwell, Hampden, Monk, Marlborough, Peterborough or Nelson; not one of Bolingbroke, Walpole, Chatham, Pitt, Fox, Burke, Graham or Canning; not one of Bacon, Locke, Newton or Davy; not one of Hume, Gibbon or Macaulay; not one of Hogarth, Sir Joshua Reynolds or Sir Thomas Lawrence; not one of David Garrick, John Kemble or Edmund Keen.—London Standard.

HOW TO KEEP WELL IN WINTER

Do not let your blood get thin this winter. For people who have a tendency toward anemia, or bloodlessness, winter is a trying season. Lack of exercise and fresh air, the more restricted diet, many things combine to lower the tone of the body and deplete the blood.

As soon as you notice the tired feeling, lack of appetite and shortness of breath that are warning symptoms of thin blood take a short treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Do not wait until the color has entirely left your cheeks, until your lips are white, your eyes dull and your ears like mother of pearl. It is so much easier to correct thinning of the blood in the earlier stages than later.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. In this way the general health is improved, the appetite increases, the digestion is strengthened and new ambition and energy developed. Work becomes easier because it does not cause exhaustion.

Keep your system at its highest efficiency with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the great blood builder and nerve tonic. Your own druggist can supply you. A booklet "Building Up the Blood" will be mailed free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. It is well worth studying by all who do not enjoy complete health.

Uncle Walt

Weary Old Father.

When father eats his supper, and sits him down to read a book by Edith Tupper, or, peradventure, "Queed," oh, let him sit in quiet until the evening's through, and do not raise a riot o'er things he ought to do. Too often Weary Father can find at home no peace, his folks raise such a pother, their clamors never cease, its "Dad, go split some kindling before you have your fun; the little pile is dwindling, and soon there will be none." "Oh, Daddy," says the daughter, "I wish yourself you'd hump, and bring eight tubs of water, and then some, from the pump." "Our Noah's ark is busted," complain the little boys, and Father, sad, disgusted, begins to glue the toys. "The cow is in the garden," shrieks Ma, "and you sit there, so help me Dolly Varden and do not seem to care!" From supertime to bedtime the old man's on the go, until his seeing-rod time will cause some blood to flow. Some day, beneath the pressure, his brain will seem a blur, and then, from here to Cheshire, he'll strew the earth with fur. His endless worries rend him, them come in such a batch, and soon we'll have to send him to some one's booby hatch.

The Matter and the Earl.

"The late Earl of Cork was a very pious person and extremely solicitous as to the future salvation of his fellow men. One day, finding himself in a crowded railway carriage, he delivered a homily as earnest as it was undesired, exhorting every one immediately to set about insuring his happiness in a future life. Presently one of the passengers, who had been listening very attentively to all that Cork said arrived at his station," says Lord Suffolk in his memoirs. "When he had got out on the platform he turned round and, leaning through the carriage door, said: "Thank you, sir! One good turn deserves another. You've put me up to a wrinkle in your profession; now let me give you one in return. I'm a hatter. Put a piece of blotting paper in the lining of your hat and it will last twice as long. Good day!"—London Globe.

Saved by Artificial Breathing.

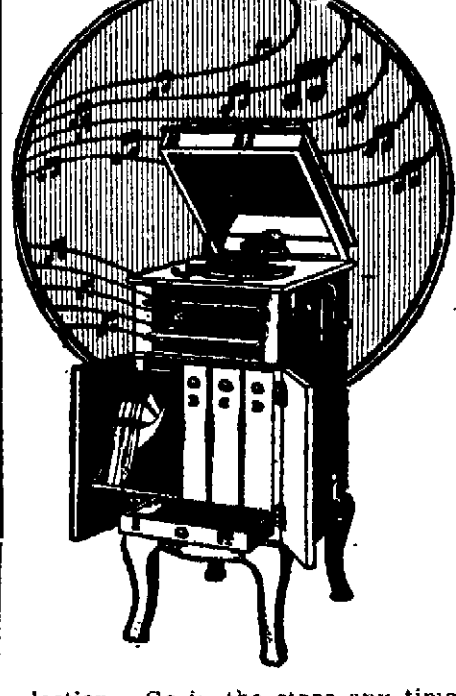

Dr. S. F. Derionjinsky, a Russian surgeon, reports the case of a peasant of twenty-one who, following an angina of probably diphtheritic origin, was stricken with paralysis. After two weeks of total paralysis some movements of the arms appeared, but a few days later respiratory trouble began. The breathing rose to forty to the minute and became superficial with momentary stops. It was necessary to resort to artificial respiration. With the assistance of pupils in the infirmary school this was kept up day and night from Feb. 5 to Feb. 20. On the latter day the patient began breathing naturally, but difficulty in swallowing arose about the same time. On Feb. 26 it became necessary to begin artificial respiration again. This was maintained until March 1, when natural breathing returned, and the patient recovered.

On Second Thought

If people generally know your initials and can spell your name you can make up your mind that you have attracted an unusual amount of attention.

A man can impress his individuality on his community, but the community never learns his middle name until his daughter's wedding invitations are out.

When a wife dies her husband says: "I would be a better husband if I had it to do over again." But when a husband dies, his wife says: "Well, I did my duty to him."

Next to those who are successful in love, those who have been disappointed in love probably are the unhappiest.

When a man wants a new hat like the one he had before, that is another sign he is growing old.

If you wish to pay a woman a compliment which she will appreciate tell her she reminds you of some famous actress.

If you wish to hear unpleasant things about a man strike up an acquaintance with his former partner in business.

In order that they may be realistic all pictures of the devil should be drawn to depict old age.

Five Daily Calls to Prayer.

At sunrise the light sleepers are awakened by the long, mellow cry of the muezzin from his tower:

God is great!
I testify that there is no God but God!
I testify that Mohammed is the prophet of God!
Come to prayer!
Come to salvation!
Prayer is better than sleep!
God is most great!
There is no God but God!

As one hears five times each day from the minarets of the mosques of Cairo this summons to prayer, as one beholds the faithful reverently bowing their bodies in their shops or in the public highways, one readily perceives that in Cairo he is near the heart of the Moslem world. These prayers occur at sunrise, midday, 3:30 in the afternoon, at sunset and an hour and a half after sunset. The faithful must attend their prayers with bows and prostrations to show perfect devotion. —Clayton Cooper's "The Man of Egypt."

Horse-radish.

The cultivation of horse-radish is a thriving industry, a writer in the Country Gentleman says, and he describes a three acre farm devoted to this industry, which keeps two men busy, one of them making good money out of his miniature farm. One advantage of this crop is thus described: "The horse-radish farmer can well be back and rest in easy security, for he has a crop that only insects with suicidal motives attack."

No, Maude, dear: just because a girl calls a fellow a muf is no indication that she wants him to hold her hands.

TWO WAYS OF PHOTOGRAPHING THE KIDS

Society

Mrs. Adrian Tate entertained about thirty neighbors and friends Friday evening at her home 2 miles east of St. Louisville in honor of Mr. Tate's birthday anniversary. The evening was spent in music and games. Light refreshments were served. Mrs. Mary Lea of Mt. Vernon was among the guests.

Announcement was made at the Ohio State University on Saturday that 24 students had been elected to the Sigma Xi fraternity, the highest honor to be granted to students of engineering. Of these 24, two are young women students, one of them being Miss Margaret Leica of 1814 North High street, Columbus, and daughter of Mr. J. M. Leica, former postmaster of this city.

Last Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. J. C. Boushrie, the vocal teacher, a class of nine of her pupils gave a recital for the benefit of their families and friends. This is the first of a series of three Mrs. Boushrie has planned to give. Another will be given in May and one in June, which will be open to the public.

Mrs. Boushrie may be very proud of her pupils, all of whom show beautiful quality of voice, extended ranges, distinct enunciation and all of them showing the same careful training. Many complimentary remarks were also made by those present in regard to their artistic way of singing. The program consisted of solos, duets and choruses. Between forty and fifty guests were present.

Banns were published at St. Francis de Sales church on Sunday for the approaching marriage of Miss Cora Dair and Mr. John Duffey.

A surprise attack was made on General Villa sent pursuers after General Velasco he left 5,000 men here.

TURN FAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

Grandma kept her locks dark, glossy and thick with a simple mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age where a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we won't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the messy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies is that Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft luster and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair. FOUR GUNMEN the murmur of the other slayers in their supplications. The warden and attendants stepped back from the rubber mat.

"Oh God, I meet my God," gasped the Italian. The state electrician turned the switch.

The first contract was gradually reduced and then a second shock was given. The prison physicians, Dr. Farr and Dr. Mersemo with several other witnessing doctors applied the stethoscope.

"I pronounce this man dead," said Dr. Farr in a low voice. It was 5:42 o'clock. The group of witnesses left the death chamber and the body of "Dago Frank" was lifted by white-coated guards and taken to the autopsy room.

The doctors said Cirofici had made little resistance to the electric current, which registered 1920 volts and between 9 and 10 amperes. Of the four he died the easiest. He had intended making a statement but his mental processes had failed him.

A new lot of witnesses filed in. Through the little door presently came "Whitey Lewis." He was garbed in a black suit, as "Dago Frank" had been. The statement that he never finished was on his lips as he entered. The attendants, fearing a shocking spectacle of hysteria, sought to soothe him.

A current of 1920 volts, with a slightly higher amperage than had been used on Cirofici took his life.

The switch was first closed at 5:47:36 and he was pronounced dead at 5:52.

At 5:55, "Gyp the Blood" was brought in. He had a Jewish prayer book in his left hand and Rabbi Goldstein walked by his side. "Listen Israel. There is only one God," mumbled Gyp in Hebrew.

Two shocks were given and at 6:02 o'clock physicians pronounced the man dead.

"Lefty Louie," the last of the four to die, and accordingly the keenly sufferer by reason of the interval of waiting, entered the chamber at 6:07. The Jewish prayer book which he grasped, he handed to Rabbi Kopelsky before the guard strapped him in the chair. Like "Gyp" he mumbled a prayer in Hebrew. The theory that the strongest shall die last, "Lefty" bore out by his uncanny resistance to the current. The first contact was given at 6:08.

At 6:17 he was pronounced dead. The only relatives of the gunmen who were in the prison at the time of the execution were "Dago Frank's" mother, sister and brother, who were in the prison at the time of the execution. Mrs. Cirofici was borne to her carriage in collapse an hour after the execution.

All the bodies of the gunmen will be claimed by relatives. Mrs. Cirofici remained with her son as late as 4 o'clock. This is an unusual procedure. She had thought until the last moment that on her son's plea for mercy the governor would grant his innocence to the end. She pleaded with Frank in Italian to confess, but he had told all he knew and that he had not been present when Herman Rosenthal was killed.

It was reported here this afternoon that Frank Cirofici before being put to death this morning made a confession to Warden Clancy and Father Cashin in which he admitted that justice had been done.

"Dago Frank" is said to have stated that while he was not present at the murder of Rosenthal, Harry Horowitz, Louis Rosenberg and Harry Vallion did the shooting.

It was further reported that Cirofici said that none of the gunmen had known previous to the shooting, that Police Lieutenant Charles Becker was concerned in the affair. The confession is said to have been signed and is now on its way to Governor Glynn.

BECKER'S TRIAL MAY OCCUR MAY 4

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, April 12.—The second trial of Charles Becker, former police lieutenant, found guilty of murdering the four gunmen executed today, will begin on May 4. If the district attorney has his way, it was said at the district attorney's office today that Mr. Whitman will appear before a Supreme Court justice on Wednesday and move to set the trial for that date. He will also ask for a special panel of talemans.

SAY GUNMEN HAVE MADE A CONFESSION

(Associated Press Telegram)
Albany, N. Y., April 12.—Some of the gunmen are believed to have confessed before they died.

Superintendent John B. Riley of the state prison department said today that statements would arrive here from Oswego which would show that "no justice had been done by the executions."

He knew nothing of the nature of the statements.

The statement is declared to implicate no one but the gunmen who died today.

Governor Glynn refused to discuss the statement, although it is known that the contents of it has been made known to him.

The governor is declared to be satisfied that the four men executed this morning were guilty.

No word was forthcoming as to whether the "confession" was made by all or one of the condemned men.

It was given to Warden Clancy this morning about 4 o'clock. No promises were held out to the writer, it is said, but in the last hours on earth there was a voluntary change in the attitude of some of the condemned men.

The report persists that the statement came from "Dago Frank." For days there has been a constant rumor that he would tell all before he died.

A remark made by Riley strengthened the belief that "Dago Frank" confessed.

"The men had the same opportunity to make this statement when I was down to Sing Sing last week," he said, "but they did not choose to avail themselves of it."

Mr. Riley went to the prison under the impression that "Dago Frank" wanted to make a final confession. But the prisoner would not talk.

Had he broken silence, it was generally understood, the death penalty would not have been inflicted today. No reprieve would have been granted. It is declared, but the executions would not have taken place until next Saturday.

Hope that such a delay might give time for new court action was held out to the gunmen by their relatives.

Mr. Riley said today that he would issue a formal statement as soon as the messenger arrived.

(Associated Press Telegram)
The last avenue of hope for the four gunmen was closed six days before their execution when Governor Glynn refused to grant a stay, pending the second trial of Lieutenant Charles Becker, who was convicted in the lower courts of having plotted the murder of Herman Rosenthal to prevent him from making graft revelations to District Attorney Whitman.

The Court of Appeals, in reversing the decision for Becker, declared itself unconvinced that he had direct-

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.
Mabel C. F.—The rough condition of your skin may be due to sunburn or to an improper habit of washing your face. Most soaps in common use roughen the skin. For the moment, until your face is better, use no soap at all, but instead a good cleansing cream or cold cream. Clean the face well at night with cream and a piece of old linen or cheesecloth that has been washed. Then rub a little massage cream into the skin and let it stay on the morning in very cold water. Before powdering, rub in a little cream. In this way the skin is kept always lubricated and the rough condition will disappear.

Mrs. F. G. S.—I do not think you are at all extravagant, and I certainly think you make the most of your modest dress allowance. You say you make your wash gowns yourself. If they are cut and hang well, there is no reason why you should be afraid to make a wooden gown. The one-piece gowns so much worn now present no more difficulties made up in woolen than in cotton goods. Be sure you get a good pattern. Why not invest in a long coat this winter instead of a tailored suit?

Lettie.—The yellow condition of the whites of the eyes comes from a disordered stomach or sluggish liver. To my mind it is a most unfortunate defect in a woman's looks and you should correct it at once. Change your diet. You are probably eating too much sugar and starch. Avoid hot bread and eat plentifully of fruit and green salads. Every other morning before breakfast take the juice of half a lemon in a cup of hot water. Eat occasionally a raw onion, well salted.

Mrs. G. F. C.—At near fifty, my dear friend, it is not strange that the hair should begin to turn gray. Do not think of dyeing it; it means expense and constant trouble. Keep your scalp free from dandruff, brush the hair and massage the scalp every night. If you keep your hair in good condition, the graying locks will not be unattractive.

ed the murder, but upheld the judgment of the lower court that the four gunmen had been the instruments. Motions for a new trial, on the ground of new evidence, made by their attorneys, were denied, and they were sentenced to die during the week beginning April 12.

Four days before their execution a delegation of New York rabbis visited Governor Glynn and pleaded in vain with him to postpone the execution until after the second trial of Becker. The governor remained fixed in the opinion that he had already expressed—that Becker's guilt or innocence could in no way affect the guilt of the gunmen who had been judged guilty by two courts.

The real names of the men who have been known as "Gyp the Blood," "Lefty Louie," "Dago Frank," and "Whitey Lewis," were Harry Horowitz, Louis Rosenberg, Frank Cirofici and Frank Golden. The youngest, Lefty Louie, was 21, the oldest, Dago Frank, 27. All were Jews except Dago Frank. As the nickname implies, he was an Italian. Gyp the Blood and Lefty Louie were married. Their young widows survive them.

Not only during the trial but in statements given out at Sing Sing, three of the gunmen persisted in the declaration that Dago Frank had not been present at the time of the murder, and was not in any way concerned in the plot to murder Rosenthal. During their stay in the Death House all four maintained an attitude of martyrlike innocence, impervious to an optimism growing out of their belief that if they were not guilty, they must be set free. The news crushing hopes of this nature as announced by the warden was received with stoical calmness.

The crime for which the four gunmen paid the death penalty started a wave of police reform, from which the ripples have not yet subsided. Throughout the revelations made at the time and subsequently, stalked the vague, sinister monster, known as the "police system."

Rosenthal was shot down early on the morning of July 16, 1912, in front of the Hotel Metropole in the heart of the Tenderloin on receipt of an anonymous message from a man who came into the hotel, he walked out and fell dead before a fusillade of bullets. The murderers leaped into an automobile and escaped. Weeks later after Becker had been arrested the gunmen were found in a flat in Brooklyn.

Their conviction and Becker's were based chiefly on the testimony of three go-betweens who turned state's evidence. These men—Jack Rose, Bridge Webber and Harry Vallon—declared that they had hired the gunmen to kill the gambler, Rosenthal, at Becker's request.

Sam Schepps, a little gambler, corroborated their testimony, and was not judged an accomplice.

Becker was a police lieutenant in charge of the "strong arm squad" whose duties were to keep in subjection the gangs of the city and to regulate gambling houses and places of ill fame. Rose, Webber and Vallon said that Becker had made use of his position to collect money from these houses. Rosenthal, according to these witnesses, having a grievance against Becker, was about to give evidence against Becker to the District Attorney.

Becker was arrested July 29, 1912, but nearly two months elapsed before the apprehension of the gunmen. Their trial before Justice Goff marked a record of speed in criminal procedure.

PRESIDENT BACK IN WASHINGTON FROM VIRGINIA
(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, April 13.—President Wilson returned here early today from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and went to the White House for breakfast. With him Secretary McAdoo, Miss Eleanor Wilson and Francis B. Sayre, the President's son-in-law. Mrs. Sayre and Miss Margaret Wilson remained at the Springs with Mrs. Wilson where they will stay for another week. The President probably will again join them on Friday.

Silver and gold don't rhyme, but they make a pleasant jingle.

When relatives went to arouse her from what they supposed was a long sleep, Mrs. Jacob Blind was found dead Sunday night at 7:30 in her home near Chatham. Apoplexy was assigned as the cause of death.

Arrangements had not been announced by the family late Monday. She is survived by her husband and one adopted son, J. W. Dunlap.

Mrs. Blind had been in her usual health, apparently, and in the late afternoon she retired to her room to lie on a couch for a short rest. It is believed she expired only a few minutes before members of the family discovered her death.

Charles Rhodes, of Buckeye Lake, was brought to the Newark Sanitarium by Clunis & Martin's ambulance, Monday for treatment for inflammatory rheumatism.

Love and the Commonplace.
"Oh dear," sighed the Woman-From-Across-the-Street, as she dropped wearily into a chair, "don't you get tired of this everlasting cooking and washing and ironing and mending? I wish something would happen—I wouldn't much care what—to break up this same old and tame-ness of living."

"Something does happen every day," observed the Neighbor, as she measured out the cup of sugar the Woman-From-Across-the-Street had come to borrow.

"What?" asked the Woman-From-Across-the-Street, her face brightening a bit.

"The miracle of love," replied the Neighbor.

"Oh," said the Woman-From-Across-the-Street, a bit disgustedly. Her face settled again into its discontented lines.

"Somebody has said," went on the Neighbor, "that when people love each other, nothing between them is ever work-a-day or commonplace. And so it seems to me that in a home where there is love, there is nothing very tame or monotonous. A home that is full of love makes me think of a place that is filled with the rainbows reflected from a prism of glass. It's a queer comparison, I know, and I don't know why I should have such an idea about it. But that is the picture I have always in mind of the place where love reigns. In my childhood's home, we had a great chandelier filled with these prisms, and when the sunlight struck that chandelier the room was just flooded with the most marvelous dancing colors. And that is the way it seems to me a home is that is filled with love. Every one in the home reflects a different expression of love, until the whole home just glows and radiates with it. And so it seems to me such a home can't be tame or monotonous. It just sparkles."

"That's a very beautiful theory," said the Woman-From-Across-the-Street, with a sigh. "But it doesn't work out in practice. One's husband grows because his coffee doesn't suit him. And the baby cries. And Mamie tears her best dress and Dick loses his school books, and so it goes. There isn't much sparkle then, except the sparkle of temper. And there's no rainbow beauty about that. The whole thing is a grind."

"But that's simply because there isn't love enough," said the Neighbor, earnestly. "Every one of those accidents would throw off a rainbow color. The sunshine of love was in the home. If the mother's heart is overflowing with love, the crying of the baby is not going to irritate. If Mamie's tearfully sorry with her arms around her mother's neck, for the torn dress, and a promise to be more careful next time, the glint of the rainbow will hover over the mending. And if there is a deep, true love between husband and wife, a cup of poor coffee now and then will only show up their feeling for each other in brighter colors. She'll have an extra good dinner to make up for the breakfast. He'll hope she hasn't worried over a trifle."

"Well, maybe," said the Woman-From-Across-the-Street, as she took her cup of sugar.

"It's true," smiled the Neighbor. "Just brighten every-day life with the radiance of love and there will be nothing tame about it. To me, this is one of the wonderful things of life, that we have right in our own hands the means to make it so bright and happy

Opens Creation Drama In Louisville

Pastor Russell Personally Conducted Exhibitions.

SPEAKS ON RESURRECTION.

Over 35,000 See and Hear in One Day the Story of the Bible as Presented by This Truly Great Drama—In Forenoon Pastor Russell Preached on That Feature of His Photo-Drama Which Relates to "the Chiefest Resurrection" Which Began With Jesus—His Footstep Followers Share in It With Him—Then Will Come Another Class on the Spirit Plane—Then Will Follow the Resurrection of the Ancient Worthies—Remainder of World Will Be Resurrected Gradually During Thousand Years of Messiah's Reign.

Louisville, Ky., April 12.—In the Shubert Masque Theatre here this afternoon Pastor Russell presented his Photo-Drama of Creation. It is truly a wonderful presentation of the Bible narrative. Nothing of the kind has ever before been shown here. It is interesting to the point of fascination. One desires to see it over and over again. It is now reported successful in more than thirty of the best theatres of the principal cities, where crowds are the rule. Over 35,000 attend in one day, and the numbers are rapidly rising. In the forenoon Pastor Russell delivered a discourse on "The Chiefest Resurrection," from the text, "There shall be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and the unjust."—Acts 24:15.

The Pastor remarked that Easter Sunday, throughout the civilized world, stands as the reminder of the resurrection of Jesus; and yet there has perhaps never been a time when the professed followers of Jesus have believed less in the Resurrection of the Dead than at present. This shows a great falling away from the faith once delivered to the saints. The Resurrection hope is the great hope which the Bible sets before mankind.

The Pastor cited various Scriptures to prove that death is the penalty of sin—the curse which came upon Adam and all his race because of Adam's disobedience to God in Eden. He showed that God's promise to roll away the curse, and to give blessing instead, includes every member of the human family. He reasoned, and produced Bible proofs in support, that the blessing of all the families of the earth, therefore, will mean the resurrection of the dead—the resurrection of Adam and every member of his race.

The earliest information on God's part that He would do anything for man's recovery from the death sentence, was given when our first parents were expelled from Eden. There God vaguely declared that at some future time the Seed of the woman should bruise the serpent's head. This was merely a ray of hope, with no intimation of how it would be accomplished. God's first definite statement of what He purposed to do for Adam and his race was made to Abraham two thousand years after sin had entered the world. To Abraham God made known His future good intentions toward Adam and all of his posterity. He said, "I purpose to bless all the families of the earth. Walk before Me and be thou faithful; and the blessing shall come to the human family through thee and thy posterity." After Abraham had endured tests, God confirmed the previous assurance and gave His oath to prove the certainty of the whole matter. The words were: "In thee and in thy Seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed."

The Law Covenant and Shadow. God knew, when He made the Promise to Abraham, that his Spiritual Seed, The Christ, would not appear even in the flesh for more than two thousand years. He knew also that it would be nearly two thousand years after that before the Spiritual Seed would be given the necessary power and authority to bind Satan and to release the slaves of sin from the tomb and from the shackles of ignorance, superstition and weakness. But it was neither necessary nor expedient that all this should be told to Abraham. It was sufficient that the friend of God should know of a surety that a blessing was coming, and that his seed would be identified with that work of blessing mankind.

God did, indeed, give a typical lesson respecting the fact that there would be two seeds of Abraham; one, Heavenly, and the other, earthly. Without explaining the matter to Abraham, God stated it so that it would be written aforetime for the information of the Household of Faith of this Gospel Age. He said, "Thy Seed shall be as the stars of Heaven, and as the sand of the seashore." One of these seeds would be developed under the Law—by being required to obey the Divine Law, and thus being helped up toward perfection. The other Seed, the Heavenly, would be by grace, not by Law. Good works would be accounted to the Heavenly Seed on the basis of faith.

St. Paul calls our attention to these two seeds, and assures us that the Promise of God made to Abraham pertains to both the Heavenly, Spiritual Seed, and the earthly, human-nature class. His words are: "Therefore it is of faith, that it might be by grace; to the end that the Promise might be sure to all the seed; not to that only which is of the Law, but to that also which is of the faith of Abraham."—Romans 4:16.

God allowed Abraham's posterity, through Jacob, to go down to Egypt, and there to become a nation of bondmen. Later, He brought them to Mount Sinai, where He made a Law Covenant with them, Moses serving as His Mediator. In that Covenant God promised that if the Israelites would keep His Law perfectly He would use them as His holy nation for the blessing of all nations. But God knew that Israel could not keep that Covenant into which they entered.

God had a double purpose in entering into that Covenant with Israel. (1) It served to show them that they were sinners, who could not keep the Law and who could not be blessed through themselves by anything that they could do; and that hence they could not expect to be used of God in the blessing of other peoples. Additionally, it taught a similar lesson to all others who would subsequently know about the arrangement. That one great lesson was that God's Law is perfect, and obedience to it requires perfection, and that no man is perfect; hence no man is able to keep the Law of God; hence no man is entitled to eternal life; for God purposes to give eternal life only to the perfect.

(2) Another object was that the Law Covenant and everything appertaining thereto were typical, and pointed forward to glorious antitypes, which would bring in the real blessings.

The Antitypes Far Superior.

The Law Covenant typified the New Law Covenant of the future, which will be in operation for all the families of the earth during the thousand years of Christ's reign. The Mediator of that New Covenant will be the antitype of Moses—The Christ—Jesus the Head, and the Church His Body, enthroned in power and great glory as the antitype Melchizedek—a Priest upon His Throne. As the typical Covenant was inaugurated by the sacrifice of bulls and goats, so the antitypical Covenant, the New Law Covenant, will be inaugurated upon the basis of "better sacrifices" than those. As the typical Covenant had its Day of Atonement for the sins of the people, so the antitypical Covenant will have a much greater Atonement Day.

The offering of the "better sacrifices" takes place during the early part of the antitypical Atonement Day, which began eighteen hundred years ago and is not yet completed. The great Sin-Offering was that of Jesus, finished at Calvary; but His secondary offerings, as our great High Priest, have continued ever since; and during this period He has been offering up the members of His Body, justified through His precious sacrifice. These, the Apostle declares, are holy and acceptable sacrifices, because offered by their great Redeemer and Advocate.

Soon, we believe, the antitypical sacrifices will all be slain. Soon all the members will be glorified with their Head, their Lord Jesus, beyond the veil. This is the first Resurrection. The change of Jesus to the Heavenly condition at His resurrection was the beginning of this Chief Resurrection; and the glorious change of the last member of the Body of Christ, the Church, will be the consummation of the Chief Resurrection. Only the blessed and holy will have part in it.

The High Priest Will Appear.

The typical high priest on the Day of Atonement, after having offered the sacrifices, put on his glorious garments, and then appeared to bless the people. The antitype will be when our great High Priest, Jesus, shall have finished offering the last member of His Body, and when that last member shall have passed beyond the veil. Then the entire Melchizedek Priest will put on His official robes as King of glory, and be manifested to the world as the great antitypical Mediator, whose sacrifice satisfies Divine Justice in behalf of all. Then, for a thousand years, this antitypical Priest, Mediator, King, will be engaged in blessing mankind—uplifting Adam and all his race from sin and death; and thus He will fulfill, as God's Representative, the promise, "God shall wipe away all tears."—Rev. 21:4.

Redemption Necessary First. We now see from God's standpoint that the Law Covenant was added because of transgression—to show the natural tendency of sin, the impossibility of any other way of righting the matter than that which God foreordained; namely, through Jesus and His glorious Messianic Kingdom.

We see also that whoever would be the Seed of Abraham with power and authority from God to bless mankind must, first of all, accomplish a redemption—must pay the penalty against mankind. In God's Providence, only one man was tried and sentenced to death—Adam. Therefore when the time came for redeeming mankind it required only one man, The Man Christ Jesus, to die for Adam. As Adam's sin had entailed itself through heredity upon all his children, so the redemptive work of Christ's sacrifice would be co-extensive, and signify reconciliation to all of Adam's race.

Thus it was impossible for anything to be done in the way of blessing mankind or granting a resurrection from the dead until Christ had died for the sin of Adam—the sin of the world. On the third day after Jesus' crucifixion God raised Him from the dead, fully empowered to be the Deliverer of Adam and his race.

But when Jesus arose from the dead, the blessing of the world was not yet due. God, who had foreordained that Jesus should be the antitypical Seed of Abraham, had foreordained also that Jesus should have a Church to be His Joint-heir in the Kingdom of glory and the work of blessing mankind. God foreordained that all who would be of this Body of Christ must show the same spirit that He had—a spirit of faithfulness, loyalty, self-sacrifice. God predestinated that this Church class must be conformed to the image of His Son—must possess similar character.

All through this Gospel Age God has been developing the Church as the Body of the great antitypical Mediator of the New Covenant. These are developed under a special Covenant, different entirely from the New Covenant, made with the world.

Jesus did not become the great Mediator under the Law Covenant; for the Law Covenant offered life; whereas the Covenant under which Jesus qualified called for death. The Church of Christ is developed under the same Covenant under which the Master qualified, which reads: "Gather My saints together unto Me; those that have made a covenant with Me by sacrifice."—Psalm 50:5.

The New Covenant is to be sealed, or made operative, through the blood of Christ. The efficacious sacrifice was that of Jesus Himself. The Church has a share in the sacrifice of Christ as a privilege; for in God's order, only by suffering with Him can she reign with Him; only by becoming dead with Him to the earthly life, earthly interests, can she become alive with Him on the Heavenly, Spiritual plane.

The Chiefest Resurrection. From what we have seen, we are prepared for St. Paul's declaration that Jesus' faithful footstep followers only can share with Him in His Resurrection. (Philippians 3:10.) Only those who are to reign with Him will receive, in the resurrection, the Divine nature, to which He was changed in His resurrection. The Master's words to these are: "Blessed and holy are all they that have part in the Chiefest Resurrection; in such the Second Death hath no power; they shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with Him a thousand years."

Next to the local Priesthood of the First Resurrection will be the antitypical Levites. Their resurrection will be to spirit conditions, because they experienced the baptism of the Spirit. Falling to get the highest prize—joint-heirship with the Savior—they will constitute the Greater number of men in His Temple. In His Temple were the servants of the typical Priesthood, so these will be the servants of the great Mediator of blessing and instructing mankind.

"Better Resurrection" of Ancient

We come now to the resurrection of all, and find that that which is already selected. There will be a resurrection of the holy ones of the coming of Jesus, and the offer of joint-heirship with Him. Some of this class St. Paul mentions in Hebrews 11: Enoc, Noah, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, and the Prophets and those less notable. The last of these was John the Baptist, as Jesus testified, saying, "Among them that are born of women there has not risen a greater than John the Baptist; notwithstanding he that is least in the Kingdom of Heaven is greater than he."

These Ancient Worthies, had they lived during this Gospel Age, would doubtless have been members of the Royal Priesthood. As it is, however, being approved of God, they were promised "a better resurrection" than others of humanity. St. Paul says of them: "These all died in faith, not having received the promises, . . . God having provided some better thing for us, that they without us should not be made perfect." By this the Apostle signifies that the Church must be perfected on the Heavenly plane prior to God's fulfillment of His promises to the Ancient Worthies on the earthly plane.—Hebrews 11:13, 40.

The better resurrection of the Ancient Worthies will be to human perfection, to be used by Messiah as earthly representatives of His Spiritual Kingdom. Of this Jesus said to some: "Ye shall see Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and all the Prophets in the Kingdom." They will be seen because they will be human beings. Christ and the Church will be unseen, because they will be spirit beings. As Jesus said, "Yet a little while, and the world seeth Me no more." Even the Church sees not her Lord until she is changed.

The World's Resurrection.

As death constituted the Divine curse upon Adam, which the whole world inherited by natural laws, and as sickness, sorrow and pain are elements of death, the rolling away of the curse will mean the rolling away of sickness, pain, sorrow and death. God has provided a thousand years for this great work, which will include all the members of the human family, "every man in his own order." Those who have fallen asleep must needs be awakened. Then the world's resurrection program will begin. It will include the progressive steps of uplifting out of sin, ignorance, imperfection, back to God's image and likeness. Only the wilfully wicked shall ultimately be destroyed in the Second Death.

Then every creature in Heaven and earth, everywhere, will be heard saying, "Praise, glory, honor, dominion and might be unto Him that sitteth upon the Throne, and unto the Lamb forever."

UNION PRINTERS ATTACK ALLEGED TRUST AT DAYTON

Claim That It Is a Monopoly and Postoffice Department an Accessory—Typographical Conference.

Columbus, O., April 13.—George Burba, secretary to Governor Cox, in an address to the Ohio Typographical conference, begun Saturday evening in the W. O. W. hall, assured the assembled printers that the governor did not intend to establish a printing shop in the state penitentiary. This has been a matter of much concern to the printers for several months past.

In addresses before the opening session of the conference, Mayor Karb and John Y. Bassell, secretary of the Convention and Publicity bureau, impressed upon the delegates to the convention the importance of Columbus from a geographical standpoint and an ability to entertain as a convention city. The conference was invited to make Columbus its permanent convention city. Other addresses of welcome were delivered by E. J. Dry, chairman of the entertainment committee; William Hartman, head of the Columbus local, and Charles Hawks, secretary to the international president.

Frank Bauer, of Columbus, was selected as reading clerk, and Fred Carpenter, also of Columbus, as sergeant-at-arms. Nelson Maier, A. J. Osterhouse and H. F. Keller were appointed members of the auditing committee; Arthur Harrell, C. E. Brehm, Charles Mayers, J. N. Colliers and David McAlleesey members of the credentials committee, and James Hoban, J. A. Deemer, F. M. Belmont, T. W. Howard, G. M. Officer, J. C. Bartow and F. H. Powell, members of the resolutions committee.

Battle forces, it is declared, that will assume national proportions within the next few months were organized yesterday by the Ohio Typographical conference to carry on a "war to the last ditch" against what the printers charge is a monopoly in restraint of trade fostered by the United States government through its postoffice department. The alleged "trust" is the Mercantile Corporation of Dayton, which holds the federal contract for the exclusive printing of stamped envelopes and stamped mailing wrappers.

Resolutions setting forth details of the Dayton corporation's business and its relations to the federal government, denouncing the company as a monopoly and the postoffice department as an accessory, and calling upon the entire printing trade for support in fighting a renewal of the federal contract with the company next December, were adopted unanimously by the conference, which closed its sixteenth semi-annual convention yesterday afternoon in W. O. W. Hall.

Max Hayes, typographical organizer, added to the denunciation in a speech which described a visit made by him to the Dayton plant and what he found there. He declared the situation would come up before the next convention of the International Typographical Union, in Providence, R. I.

A Columbus man, Charles Kroettinger, was elected unanimously president of the state conference for the ensuing year. Nels Maier of Massillon was chosen vice president. H. R. Witter of Canton was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Frank Gibson of Marion was named fraternal delegate to the Indiana conference at Ft. Wayne and C. A. Benedict of Toledo was elected fraternal delegate to the Michigan conference at Port Huron.

That a smaller town might have the benefit of a state conference, Marier was chosen as the place for holding the next conference, which will be in October. The vote was unanimous Toledo is a candidate for the April, 1915, meeting.

FREAK CHICKEN HATCHED ALIVE BUT SOON DIES

In an incubator at the home of Martin Bourner in Postal avenue, Sunday morning, there was hatched a freak chick from one of the several dozen eggs. It was alive when removed with others, but soon died. The chick had two distinct bodies as one, and one head round, it seemed, at the middle of the two backs. There were also four legs, four wings and two tails, perfectly developed.

"AUNT" MAHALA CELEBRATES HER 114TH BIRTHDAY

(Associated Press Telegram.)
Philadelphia, April 13.—"Aunt" Mahala Ayer, yesterday celebrated her 114th birthday at the home of the Aged Colored Persons in this city. She dressed herself unaided and attended Easter services in the chapel of the institution, afterward receiving the congratulations of scores of visitors who called to wish her well.

The officials of the home had prepared a huge cake for the aged woman and she placed 114 candles on it before retiring as she did each year.

"I guess I'll live a lot more candles on my birthday cake, before I'll call it home, but I've never felt better in my life."

Aunt Mahala was born a slave on the plantation of John Fossitt in Maryland, April 12, 1800.

PREPARING FOR OBSERVANCE OF MEMORIAL DAY

Memorial Day this year will fall on Saturday, May 30. Preparations for its observance are under way. Progress will be announced shortly. Those in charge will endeavor to make the exercises fitting and impressive. The old comrades are passing away more rapidly than ever, and almost as rapidly, yes, more rapidly than during the war period. Many new graves of soldiers were decorated in the two cemeteries of Newark. Three soldiers were buried at Cedar Hill last week. If the rate were kept up for two years, scarcely a dozen would remain.

The following statement issued by the War Department is most interesting at this time in that it shows that three fourths of that mighty army of 1861-5 enlisted while under twenty-one years of age:

Those 10 years and under	25
Those 11 years and under	38
Those 12 years and under	225
Those 13 years and under	225
Those 14 years and under	1,523
Those 15 years and under	104,987
Those 16 years and under	231,055
Those 17 years and under	$44,891
Those 18 years and under	1,151,438
Those 19 years and under	2,159,798
Those 20 years and over	618,511
Those 21 years and over	46,826
Those 22 years and over	16,071
Total enlisted	2,778,804

About 800,000 re-enlisted, making a little less than 2,000,000 different men in the service.

How interesting it would be to have the graves of the old veterans decorated by our boys of corresponding ages.

HOW TO SAVE YOUR EYES

Try This Free Prescription.

Do your eyes give you trouble? Do you already wear eyeglasses or spectacles? Thousands of people wear these "windows" who might easily dispense with them. You may be one of these, and it is your duty to save your eyes before it is too late. The eyes are neglected more than any organ of the entire body. After you finish your day's work you sit down and rest your muscles, but how about your eyes? Do you let them rest? You know you do not. You read or do something else that keeps your eyes busy; you work your eyes until you go to bed. That is why so many have strained eyes and finally other eye troubles that threaten partial or total blindness. Eyeglasses are "crutches" which never cure. This free prescription, which has benefited the eyes of so many, may work equally well for you. Use it a short time. Would you like your eye troubles to disappear as if by magic? Try this prescription. Go to the nearest sidewalk drug store and get a bottle of Opium tablets. Fill a two-ounce bottle with warm water, drop in one tablet and allow it to thoroughly dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. Just note how quickly your eyes clear up and how soon the inflammation will disappear. Don't be afraid to use it. It is absolutely harmless. Many who are now blind might have saved their eyes and they started to care for them in time. This is a simple treatment, but marvelously effective in multitudes of cases. Now that you have been warned don't delay a day, but do what you can to save your eyes and you are likely to thank us as long as you live for publishing this prescription.

Temperance

(Conducted by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.)

WHAT A WRITER SAW.

A short time ago I noticed him as he came into town, with his wagon full of vegetables, and chickens, and eggs. He found a ready market for his produce, and I thought how happy his little ones would be when he returned home in the evening with toys, and dresses, and shoes, and food for the morrow, and some clear money in his purse. I thought I could see his wife standing in the doorway to give him a cordial greeting on his return, so desirous was I that he should make the home ones happy and contented. I could almost see his cheerful face as he returned to his family after a day's absence. So I thought, and returned to my work. But evening came, and he passed by my window again. He had nothing I thought he would have. The bed of the wagon was bare. No little shoes, nor food for the morrow, nor money in his purse, I dare say. The man was drunk. He had changed, and this changed my thoughts of his home. I could see the children shrinking from his approach, and the wife, so care-worn and sorrowful. She could not meet him with the tender smile with which she had intended greeting him. He was breaking her heart, and preparing to make a desolate home for his wife and children.—W. H. Engler.

COST OF A BOY.

(By MRS. ELLA A. BORLE, President New York State W. C. T. U.)

If I were to place a money value on what that mother does for the boy from the time he is born until he is twenty-one years of age, I am not putting it too high when I assert it is worth say two dollars a week—you could not hire it done for that—which means that the mother has invested in the boy from the time he was born until he is twenty-one years of age more than twenty-one hundred dollars in hard work.

What has the father done for the boy? He has provided the home, the food and lodging, paid the doctor's bills, paid for his books, his clothes, his schooling, and his bills when he went to college, so that when I make the average amount expended by the father $100 per year my estimate is low. This means that when the boy has reached twenty-one years of age his father and mother have expended upon him in cash and hard labor more than $4,000.

If I had a house valued at $4,000 and some one were to destroy it by fire, I would have the man arrested and sent to the penitentiary, but if I had a boy, and a house, I would a thousand times rather some one would set fire to my house and burn it to the ground than have the saloon get hold of my boy and ruin his body and soul. Wouldn't you?

SMALL PROFIT TO FARMER.

The manufacturers of intoxicating liquors quite frequently represent themselves as indispensable to the farmers, on account of the market they afford him for his grain. But investigation shows that only a very small part of the farmers' total products are taken by the breweries and distilleries. For instance, during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1911, 114,509,855 bushels of barley, wheat, rye, corn and oats were used in making alcoholic liquors. But the farmers raised, during the year 1910, a total of 5,143,187,000 bushels of these same grains and this shows that the liquor traffic uses less than two and a half per cent. of the five leading grain crops of the land. For every bushel of grain used by the breweries and distilleries more than forty-four and three-fifths bushels are used for legitimate food purposes.—Prof. John A. Nicholls.

JUSTICE TO WIFE AND CHILDREN.

The court was hearing a case of "drunk, third arrest." The judge turned to the woman who stood near, whose worn, sorrowful face had touched his heart and said: "I am sorry, but I must lock up your husband." The injured wife, victim of the legalized liquor traffic, one of the many who "take the consequences while the husband takes the drink," had no thought of touching deep moral or economic problems, but only of plain, every-day, common sense, when she replied: "Your honor, wouldn't it be better for me and the children if you locked up the saloon and let my husband go to work?"

COMMON SENSE IN NORTHERN WISCONSIN.

There are a hundred miles of rail road through northern Wisconsin with but one saloon town on the whole route. This station retained its "reticence" at the last election by a majority of only four votes. And yet northern Wisconsin is the home of the foreign emigrant, the lumberman and the copper and iron workers!

TWO INVESTMENTS.

Part of the exhibit in a Quincy (Mass.) shop window during the poster campaign was a little cottage with the announcement that: "Henry saved one dollar per week, which he invested in a building fund. At the end of 25 years he had to show this little home all paid for."

Close to the cottage was a pile of miniature barrels with the legend: "John spent one dollar per week for beer. At the end of 25 years he had this pile of empty barrels to show—and even these he did not own."

Unfortunately our family jars are never hermetically sealed.

DEMONSTRATION ATTRACTED CROWD AT NORTON STORE
A window demonstration of practical office devices for adding to the efficiency and progress of a business concern, was given in the window of A. L. Norton Bookstore in the Arcade Saturday. Mr. Norton specializes in the handling of office equipment and the demonstration was a revelation to many business people who have not kept abreast of the time of greater efficiency.
The window was arranged to represent an office and the latest thing in typewriters was demonstrated by Paul Coway. The dictaphone, which has replaced the stenographer and short hand notes, was dictated to by Herman Dickerson, and Austin Lamp operated the Burrough Adding machine.
Woman Who Stole Cabbage Must Keep Out of Markethouse
Prosecution of the case against the woman caught Saturday after she had stolen a head of cabbage from a dealer at the Peoples market, has been postponed indefinitely on the woman's promise to keep out of the market house in the future. Market vendors declare that the woman has been caught in little thefts before and that they will be entirely satisfied if she keeps out of the market house.
Strange as it may seem, the entire floating population of the world was at one time confined to the Ark.

OLD EMPLOYE OF B. & O. ROAD DIES SUNDAY

Joseph Barry of South Sixth Street Succumbs Sunday to an Attack of Grip.

One of the oldest and most reliable employees of the B. & O. round house, Joseph Barry, died at his home in 158 South Sixth street on Sunday evening after an illness of but three days of the grip.

Mr. Barry was 56 years old, and for thirty years had been in the employ of the B. & O. railroad company as a machinist. He was listed as one of the oldest employees and one of the most capable, and his death came as a great shock to his associates. He is survived by his wife, and three sons, William of Mt. Vernon, George of Wheeling and Dennis Barry of Van Wert, O. For a number of years the deceased was a member of the ancient Order of Hibernians, and was always a faithful and consistent member of St. Francis de Sales church.

Funeral on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock St. Francis de Sales church and burial will be made in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

SAYS PUBLIC

(Continued from Page 1.) fort of the government to regulate railways, railway rates and railway practices has resulted in dismal, disastrous failure; that the government in its endeavor to protect the people has impoverished the transportation companies; that it has driven them to the very verge of bankruptcy and ruin; that it has destroyed their credit and rendered them incapable of performing the service which commerce demands; that it has outlawed them from the confidence of capital and exiled them from the field of the investor.

"This extraordinary campaign has filled the newspapers with headlines, with dispatches, with letters and with editorials.

Senator Cummins quoted from several magazines and newspaper stories giving accounts of how different railroads had been forced to discharge large numbers of employees and retrench in their expenditures.

"I do not assert that the campaign is being carried on to effect the commission," he continued. "For the railroad companies know that it cannot be swerved a hair's breadth from the path of its duty, but I do assert that the movers of this campaign are trying to do an infinitely more objectionable thing. They are trying to mislead and pervert the judgment of the people. They are trying to deceive the country with exaggerated cries of suffering and distress in order to escape the control which experience has demonstrated should be imposed upon all corporations which undertake a public service."

The senator denied that the people of the United States are hostile to the railroads and said that every one desired that all railroads be well constructed and well operated. He did not doubt that there were some rates which should be increased, and some which should be decreased.

Senator Cummins recalled that substantially all the railroad rates now prevailing were made by the railroads themselves and added that in his opinion ninety-five percent of the freight revenue of the railroads are derived from interstate freight rates made and published without any interference upon the part of the government. He added that he believes that the physical condition of the railroads is better now than ever before in their history.

"It follows, of course," he went on, "that the railroad property devoted to the public service is more valuable at this moment than at any other moment since railroads began. We ought to understand that we are dealing with the most perfect and com-

QUESTION

an exception in favor of American vessels?"

Discussing the President's right to expect the support of Congress when he deals with international questions, Secretary Bryan adds: "The Chief Executive speaks for the nation in international affairs, and it is only fair to assume that he speaks advisedly when he declares that intercourse with other nations is seriously embarrassed by the free-trade law which he seeks to repeal."

"We occupy today a proud position among the nations, we are the foremost advocate of peace and arbitration; we are becoming more and more a moral factor throughout the world. Can we afford to surrender this position? Can we afford to belittle the great enterprise which has reached its consummation at the isthmus? If our nation desires to be measured by intellectual and ethical standards, how can we do but what we ought to do? The path of history is strewn with the wreck of nations that boasted that they were all powerful. This question must be decided on moral principles and not by the counting of our regiments and battleships. What shall it profit a nation if it conquers the whole world and loses its faith in the doctrine that righteousness exalteth a nation?"

Mr. Bryan was a member of the Resolutions Committee of the Baltimore Convention and his observations on the platform constitute his first utterance on the subject. Mr. Bryan argues that there are two planks in the Baltimore platform, pertinent to the discussion, one which declares the belief of the Democratic party in the encouragement of the merchant marine but that it should be developed by the use of subsidies and without the aid of the public treasury, and a second plank declaring in favor of the exemption from toll of American ships engaged in coastwise trade passing through the canal but without imposing additional burdens upon the people and without bounties or subsidies from the public treasury.

But even if the platform had not contained within itself a complete refutation of the position taken by the advocates of free trade, the President would have been justified in the position that he took in the changed conditions which confronted him. A platform is a pledge and is as binding upon an official as the command of a military officer is upon a subordinate. The statement cannot be understood as a promise to act upon his judgment alone a change of which the commanding officer is not aware has taken place in conditions. It is not only the right of the subordinate to judge the situation for himself where conditions have changed since the order was given, but it is his duty to do so. In the case under consideration the President takes responsibility for an official act which he regards as necessary for his country's welfare and the people must decide whether or not he is justified, and those who refuse to act with him also have secured the endorsement of the convention because the contradiction between this plank and the larger plank would have been immediately apparent. If the same care had been used in the drawing of this plank that was used in the drawing of the plank on the merchant marine, we have the exemption from toll of American ships engaged in coastwise trade passing through the canal but without imposing additional burdens upon the people and without bounties or subsidies from the public treasury.

NEWARK Y. M. C. A. NEEDS $3600 FOR THIS YEAR'S WORK

The Newark Y. M. C. A. is soliciting funds for its annual budget. It will require $3,600 to cover the work for 1914. Of this amount $4,000 will be earned at the building, leaving $3,600 to be subscribed by citizens. This is due to the fact that all fees must be kept low enough to place the advantages within the reach of those who need and want them.

At present the Y. M. C. A. work is directed by 15 men serving without pay. These men, the trustees, subscribe $500.

The estimated total attendance at the Newark Y. M. C. A. in 1913 was 52,500. Total attendance at 68 meetings in the building, 8,900. Members using the privileges 461, baths taken 14,451; attendance at gymnasium, 7,525; attendance at the shop meetings 2,616; attendance at 27 boys' Bible classes and 122 1-2 men using dormitories, 182; attendance at social events, 1,584; different boys and men in the boys' garden club, tennis club and grade school ball game.

The trustees of the Y. M. C. A. are: Chas. C. Metz, president, Dr. C. L. W. Chas. president, W. R. Evans, secretary, Harry Scott, treasurer, C. H. Davis, E. S. R. Clough, C. L. Flory, A. S. Stephan, J. B. Whittle, O. J. Barnes, W. E. Foster, H. H. List, J. N. Pugh, J. L. Fisher, E. M. Lapsion.

plete railroad system that this world has ever seen, prepared to render more and better service than it has ever rendered before, and all the declarations about railroads passing in decay and becoming unsafe or insufficient is the rankest, baldest nonsense.

"It is beyond doubt that the railroads are now experiencing a somewhat severe depression the volume of traffic is greatly diminished, as compared with that two or three years ago. The depression began with the first of October last and has grown more serious with each month since that time. It is sufficient to say that for some reason people are not buying as much as they did; manufacturers are not producing as much as they did, and consequently there is not much to haul from one part of the country to another. I hope and I may add that it is my belief that these depressing conditions will be temporary and that speedily business will resume its normal condition."

Senator Cummins said that other industries are suffering as well as the railroads, and this passing fluctuation in trade cannot be given as a reason why railroad rates should be increased.

He then took up what rate of return on an investment is generally accepted as fair. He said that between 1896 and 1900 representative Government bonds paid an average return of between 2 1/2 and 3 1/2 per cent in the United States, between 2.88 and 2.98 in Great Britain, and between 3.45 and 3.54 in Germany. Typical railroad bonds in 1909, he said, paid an average of from 3.85 to 4.11 on the investment.

Discussing the revenues of the railroads, the senator said they amounted to $328,576,192 in 1890, and $413,311,842 in 1912; a net increase of 17.80 per cent over 1890. He added that the railroads have earned enough to pay seven percent upon all their capital stock, but generally pay no more than five percent.

"It is almost unbelievable that in the face of these facts," he went on, "intelligent men will continue to denounce the attitude of the government toward the railroads as hostile or unjust."

He concluded by reading tables showing the quotations of railroad stocks in recent years to demonstrate that railroad stocks from 1896 to 1911 not only were higher but steeper than the industrial stocks, or any other securities.
